Dear [REDACTED]

It is desired that you remain at the project site until the general operating tests of the Heating and Air Conditioning installation are completed in accordance with contract requirements, (Spec. 36.25).

Final adjustments which appear to be covered in the contract guarantee may involve seasonal conditions. It is suggested that arrangements be made whereby the contractor's services may be available to Mr. [REDACTED] or his successor for future adjustments or corrections under the guarantee, also, for such consultation services as may be required by [REDACTED]

If there are any outstanding price negotiations on contract change orders requiring settlement, your recommendations are requested as to whether such negotiations should be completed prior to your return.

It will not be necessary for you to remain at the site pending completion of the storage room or delivery of the record drawings. Final payment can be withheld if necessary, pending completion of these contract items.

Very truly yours,
